WHAT IS FROGTOWN FARM?

Frogtown Farm will be a farm in our neighborhood, part of a larger 13 acre public park that will include open space and play facilities for kids. The Farm will include programs for food production, education, and garden demonstration. Depending on community feedback, Frogtown Farm will have focused programs in food production and distribution, education, wealth creation, community pride, and/or environmental sustainability. Rooted in values of social equity, justice, and inter-connectedness, this farm on the hill could serve as a model for multi-cultural community and economic development. Frogtown Farm and Park will be a place for community gathering, celebration, learning, reflection, growth, and the sharing of food! And Frogtown Farm needs your participation to realize this vision!

WHO IS DESIGNING FROGTOWN FARM?

With guidance from the Frogtown Farm Board, the early design is being led by Rebar, a design studio based in San Francisco with experience creating many community farms and gardens, and the team includes a two farmers, a builder, architects, a civil engineer, and landscape architects. More than half of the team members live in the Twin Cities. They will be looking for expertise and input from you to shape the design.

WHAT IS THE DESIGN PROCESS?

This is the first large meeting for the community to provide input to the design team. Following the workshop on 10/12, the team will develop the design and farm program, and share their progress on the Frogtown Farm website. A celebration and design preview will be scheduled for early January 2014. Once this preliminary design is adopted, the Farm can proceed to develop more detailed designs for construction in the future.
